12 DAWN D. RADCLIFFE,
 13 individually, and on behalf of a class of others
 14 similarly situated,

Plaintiffs,

v.

16 R.J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY,
 17 a North Carolina corporation.

Defendants.

Case No. 08 CV 0393 H POR

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

21 Plaintiff Dawn Radcliffe, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated, by and 22 through her counsel, for her Complaint against R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company ("R.J.
 23 Reynolds") hereby states and alleges as follows:

24 R.J. Reynolds manufactures and sells nicotine products, including cigarettes. R.J.
 25 Reynolds's practice and policy is to deny wages and overtime pay to its retail representatives
 26 ("RR"). The deliberate failure of R.J. Reynolds to pay its employees their earned wages and 27 overtime compensation violates the Fair Labor Standards Act ("FLSA").
 28

1 This lawsuit is brought as a collective action under the FLSA and as a class action under
2 California state law to recover unpaid wages owed to Plaintiff and all other similarly situated
3 employees.

4 PARTIES, JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5 R.J. Reynolds is a North Carolina corporation with its principal place of business in 6 Winston-Salem, North Carolina. R.J. Reynolds does business in the State of California and 7 nationwide.

8 Dawn Radcliffe (also referred to herein as "Radcliffe," "Plaintiff," or "Class
9 Representative Plaintiff") is a resident of Murrieta, California. She previously worked for R.J.
10 Reynolds as an RR from March 1999 to January 2008 in California. Radcliffe's Consent to 11 Become a Party Plaintiff pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b) is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

12 The FLSA authorizes court actions by private parties to recover damages for violation
13 of the FLSA's wage and hour provisions. Jurisdiction over Plaintiff's FLSA claims is based 14 upon 29 U.S.C. § 216(b) and 28 U.S.C. § 1331.

15 Under 28 U.S.C. § 1367, this Court has jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state law claims
16 because the state claims are so related to the FLSA claims that they form part of the same case
17 or controversy. Additionally, jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state law claims is based upon the 18 Class Action Fairness Act ("CAFA"), 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2)(A), because the parties are 19 diverse and the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

20 Venue in this district is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b) and (c), because R.J.
21 Reynolds conducts business in this district.

22
23 GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

24 All RRs have the same primary job duty. The principal job duty of RRs is to travel to 25 retail stores where R.J. Reynolds's products are available for sale and verify that the store is 26 complying with the terms of the agreement between the store and R.J. Reynolds. For example, 27 RRs verify that R.J. Reynolds's products are being sold at the agreed-upon price, that the 28 appropriate signage is attached to the products, and that the shelves are properly stocked with

1 the products. RRS perform these duties by comparing what they observe in the retail stores to
2 requirements listed in the contracts between R.J. Reynolds and the store. RRs are also required
3 to review R.J. Reynolds materials and communications to ensure that they are familiar with the 4 latest promotions being offered by R.J. Reynolds.

5 RRs submit an electronic report to R.J. Reynolds for each store they visit in a workday.
6 The report reflects the time that the RR arrived at a particular store and the time that the RR
7 departed from the store, as well as the date that the RR visited the store. R.J. Reynolds uses
8 these reports to periodically check on the performance of its RRs.

9 10. RRs are required to visit a certain amount of stores every month. The average
10 store visit lasts approximately forty-five minutes, with store visits ranging from ten minutes up 11 to ninety minutes.

12 11. To accomplish their quota of store visits, RRs are required to drive to several 13 stores per day, many of which are spread across metropolitan areas or large rural areas. R.J.
14 Reynolds provides a company car for RRs to use in traveling their assigned routes. RRs submit 15 a monthly mileage report to R.J. Reynolds for their company vehicles.

16 12. R.J. Reynolds pays all RRs on an hourly basis and treats all RRs as non-exempt 17 workers.

18 13. RRs are instructed that no overtime compensation is allowed by R.J. Reynolds,
19 unless the overtime they work has been specifically authorized in advance. Plaintiff was denied 20 overtime compensation during workweeks in which she worked in excess of forty hours.

21 14. RRs do not sell or offer products to the stores they visit nor do they negotiate
22 with the stores the terms of the contract at issue. RRs merely ensure that the stores are 23 adequately performing their obligations under their pre-determined contract with R.J. Reynolds.

24 15. R.J. Reynolds does not accurately record or keep the time RRs work. R.J.
25 Reynolds has instructed RRs, including Plaintiff, not to record overtime worked when the 26 overtime had not been approved in advance.

27 16. RRs are unable to complete their required quota of store visits and satisfactorily
28 perform their job duties without working in excess of forty hours per week on a regular basis.

17. The net effect of R.J. Reynolds's policy and practice instituted and approved by company managers is that R.J. Reynolds willfully fails to pay overtime compensation and willfully fails to keep accurate time records in order to save payroll costs. R.J. Reynolds enjoys ill-gained profits at the expense of its hourly employees.

COLLECTIVE AND CLASS ALLEGATIONS

18. Radcliffe brings Count I, the FLSA claim, as an "opt-in" collective action pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), on behalf of herself and the following persons:

all current and former employees of R.J. Reynolds who have worked as a retail representative in the State of California at any time during the last three years.

19. Radcliffe brings Count II (violation of California Business & Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq.) as a class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23, on behalf of herself and as the Class Representative of the following persons:

all current and former employees of R.J. Reynolds who have worked as a retail representative in the State of California at any time during the last four years.

20. Radcliffe brings Counts III, IV, V, and VI (violation of the unpaid straight-time wages, unpaid overtime wages, meal and rest period claims, and failure to pay compensation due and owing at the time of termination respectively) as a class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23, on behalf of herself and as the Class Representative of the following persons:

all current and former employees of R.J. Reynolds who have worked as a retail representative in the State of California within the last three years.

21. Radcliffe brings Count VII (the quantum meruit claim) as a class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23, on behalf of herself and as the Class Representative of the following persons:

all current and former employees of R.J. Reynolds who have worked as a retail representative in the State of California within the last two years.

22. The FLSA claim may be pursued by those who opt-in to this case, pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

23. The state law claims, if certified for class wide treatment, may be pursued by all similarly-situated persons who do not opt-out of the class.

24. Plaintiff, individually and on behalf of other similarly situated employees, seeks relief on a collective basis challenging, among other FLSA violations, R.J. Reynolds's practice of failing to accurately record all hours worked, failing to pay employees for all hours worked, including overtime compensation, and failing to properly calculate and pay overtime compensation that was recorded. The number and identity of other plaintiffs yet to opt-in and consent to be party plaintiffs may be determined from the records of R.J. Reynolds.

25. Plaintiff's state law claims satisfy the numerosity, commonality, typicality, adequacy and superiority requirements of a class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23.

26. The class satisfies the numerosity standards and joinder of all class members in a single action is impracticable. Class members may be informed of the pendency of this class action through direct mail.

27. There are questions of fact and law common to the class that predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. The questions of law and fact common to the class arising from R.J. Reynolds's actions include, without limitation, the following:

- (i) Whether R.J. Reynolds was unjustly enriched by failing to pay its employees the straight-time and overtime wages due and owing to them;
- (ii) Whether R.J. Reynolds failed to provide adequate meal and rest periods;
- (iii) Whether R.J. Reynolds failed to pay all compensation due and owing at termination of employment;
- (iv) Whether R.J. Reynolds failed to properly calculate and pay overtime in accordance with federal and state law; and
- (v) Whether R.J. Reynolds's conduct constituted a violation of the California Business and Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq.

28. The questions set forth above predominate over any questions affecting only individual persons, and a class action is superior with respect to considerations of consistency, economy, efficiency, fairness, and equity to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the state law claims.

29. Class Representative Plaintiff's claims are typical of those of the class, in that class members have been employed in the same or similar positions as Class Representative

1 Plaintiff and were subject to the same or similar unlawful practices as Class Representative
2 Plaintiff.

3 30. A class action is the appropriate method for the fair and efficient adjudication of 4 this controversy. R.J. Reynolds has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to 5 the class. The presentation of separate actions by individual class members could create a risk
6 of inconsistent and varying adjudications, establish incompatible standards of conduct for R.J.
7 Reynolds, and/or substantially impair or impede the ability of class members to protect their 8 interests.

9 31. Class Representative Plaintiff is an adequate representative of the class because 10 she is a member of the class and her interests do not conflict with the interests of the members
11 of the class that she seeks to represent. The interests of the members of the class will be fairly 12 and adequately protected by Class Representative Plaintiff and her undersigned counsel, who 13 have extensive experience prosecuting complex wage and hour, employment and class action
14 litigation.

15 32. Maintenance of this action as a class action is a fair and efficient method for 16 adjudication of this controversy. It would be impracticable and undesirable for each member of 17 the class who suffered harm to bring a separate action. In addition, the maintenance of separate 18 actions would place a substantial and unnecessary burden on the courts and could result in 19 inconsistent adjudications, while a single class action can determine, with judicial economy, the 20 rights of all class members.

21
22 COUNT I

23 Violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938

24 (Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and 25 on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

26 33. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding
27 paragraphs.

1        34. At all times material herein, Plaintiff has been entitled to the rights, protections,
2 and benefits provided under the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. §§ 201, et seq.

3        35. The FLSA regulates, among other things, the payment of overtime pay by 4 employers whose employees are engaged in interstate commerce, or engaged in the production
5 of goods for commerce, or employed in an enterprise engaged in commerce or in the production
6 of goods for commerce. 29 U.S.C. § 207(a)(1).

7        36. R.J. Reynolds is subject to the overtime pay requirements of the FLSA because 8 it is an enterprise engaged in interstate commerce and its employees are engaged in commerce.

9        37. R.J. Reynolds violated the FLSA by failing to pay and properly calculate 10 overtime. In the course of perpetrating these unlawful practices, R.J. Reynolds has also 11 willfully failed to keep accurate records of all hours worked by its employees.

12        38. Section 13 of the FLSA, codified at 29 U.S.C. § 213, exempts certain categories
13 of employees from overtime pay obligations. None of the FLSA exemptions apply to Plaintiffs 14 or retail representatives.

15        39. Plaintiff and all similarly-situated employees are victims of a uniform and 16 company-wide compensation policy. Upon information and belief, R.J. Reynolds is applying
17 this uniform policy to all retail representatives employed nationwide during the last three years.

18        40. Plaintiff and all similarly-situated employees are entitled to damages equal to the 19 mandated overtime premium pay within the three years preceding the filing of this Complaint, 20 plus periods of equitable tolling, because R.J. Reynolds acted willfully and knew, or showed 21 reckless disregard of whether, its conduct was prohibited by the FLSA.

22        41. R.J. Reynolds has acted neither in good faith nor with reasonable grounds to 23 believe that its actions and omissions were not a violation of the FLSA, and as a result thereof,
24 Plaintiff and other similarly situated employees are entitled to recover an award of liquidated
25 damages in an amount equal to the amount of unpaid overtime pay described pursuant to 26 Section 16(b) of the FLSA, codified at 29 U.S.C. § 216(b). Alternatively, should the Court find 27 R.J. Reynolds did act with good faith and reasonable grounds in failing to pay overtime pay,
28

1 Plaintiff and all similarly-situated employees are entitled to an award of prejudgment interest at 2 the applicable legal rate.

3 42. As a result of the aforesaid willful violations of the FLSA's overtime pay
4 provisions, overtime compensation has been unlawfully withheld by R.J. Reynolds from 5 Plaintiff and all similarly-situated employees. Accordingly, R.J. Reynolds is liable for 6 compensatory damages pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), together with an additional amount as 7 liquidated damages, pre-judgment and post-judgment interest, reasonable attorneys' fees, and 8 costs of this action.

9 COUNT II

10 Violation of the California Business and Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq.

11 (Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and 12 on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

13 43. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding
14 paragraphs.

15 44. R.J. Reynolds's actions, including but not limited to the failure to maintain 16 accurate employee time records, the failure to pay wages earned, and the failure to pay overtime 17 compensation, constitute fraudulent, unlawful and unfair business practices in violation of 18 California Business and Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq. ("UCL").

19 45. Beginning at an exact date unknown to Plaintiff, but at least since four years
20 prior to the filing date of this action, and as set forth above, R.J. Reynolds committed acts of 21 unfair competition, as defined by Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200, by failing to adequately and 22 properly compensate its employees for work performed on behalf of R.J. Reynolds. These acts 23 and practices violate the UCL in that:

- 24 a) the above-described failure to pay wages owed to Plaintiff and the Class
- 25 constituted a fraudulent and deceptive business act or practice within the
- 26 meaning of the UCL;
- 27 b) the above-described failure to pay wages owed to Plaintiff and the Class
- 28 constituted an unlawful business practice under the UCL in that the

1 failure violates the FLSA as described herein; and California Civil Code
2 §1770(a)(5), which bars “[r]epresenting that goods or services have 3 sponsorship, approval, characteristics, ingredients, uses, benefits, or 4 quantities which they do not have ...”; and

5 c) the harm of the above-described failure to pay wages owed to Plaintiff
6 and to the Class outweighs the utility of the practices by R.J. Reynolds
7 and, consequently, constitutes an unfair business act or practice within 8 the meaning of the UCL.

9 46. Upon information and belief, R.J. Reynolds continues its fraudulent, unlawful 10 and unfair conduct as previously described. As a result of said conduct, R.J. Reynolds has 11 fraudulently, unlawfully and unfairly obtained monies due to Plaintiff and the Class and are 12 unfairly competing in the marketplace.

13 47. Plaintiff and all individuals within the Class are entitled to restitution of monies 14 due, as well as disgorgement of the ill-gotten gains obtained by R.J. Reynolds, for a period of 15 four years predating the filing of this Complaint.

16 48. As a direct and proximate result of R.J. Reynolds’s conduct, Plaintiff is entitled 17 to a preliminary and permanent injunction enjoining R.J. Reynolds from continuing the 18 fraudulent, unlawful and unfair practices described above, and to such other equitable relief as 19 is appropriate under California Business and Professions Code § 17203, including restitution as 20 well as specific relief to enforce the provisions of the California Labor Code and Fair Labor
21 Standards Act pursuant to Business and Professions Code § 17202.

22 49. Plaintiff is entitled to attorneys’ fees and costs for promoting the interests of the 23 general public in causing R.J. Reynolds to cease its unlawful and unfair business practices, in 24 an amount according to proof, pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 1021.5 and any 25 other applicable law.

27 ///

28 ///

COUNT III

Failure to Pay Straight-Time Wages in Violation of California State Law

(Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

50. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding paragraphs.

51. Plaintiff alleges that R.J. Reynolds maintained a practice of paying employees without regard to the number of hours actually worked. R.J. Reynolds's practice included requiring employees to work off the clock without pay on a systematic and daily basis. In doing so, R.J. Reynolds inaccurately under-reported the amount of time worked by Plaintiffs.

52. Because of R.J. Reynolds's failures as alleged herein, Plaintiff did not receive compensation for all hours actually worked for R.J. Reynolds. In addition, R.J. Reynolds failed to pay RRs at the agreed hourly rate.

53. R.J. Reynolds's respective failure to pay the correct amount of straight-time hourly wages permits a civil suit to recover wages due to Plaintiff under California Labor Code section 218, as well as recovery of interest, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs of suit under California Code sections 218.5 and 218.6.

COUNT IV

Failure to Pay Overtime Wages in Violation of California State Law

(Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

54. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding paragraphs.

55. Throughout the liability period, IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040) and California Labor Code section 510 required the payment of overtime premium(s) for hours worked in excess of eight in a given workday, forty in a given workweek, or on the seventh

1 day worked in a single workweek. This premium increases to double-time for all hours
 2 worked over twelve in a single workday or eight on the seventh day worked in a single 3 workweek.

4 56. Plaintiff often worked in excess of the maximum number of hours allowed by 5 law without payment of the applicable overtime premiums.

6 57. R.J. Reynolds failed to pay Plaintiff the overtime required by California law, and 7 failed to properly calculate recorded overtime in accordance with California law.

8 58. R.J. Reynolds's failure to calculate and pay the correct amount of overtime
 9 violates IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040) and California Labor Code §§ 510 and 10 1198.

11 59. Because R.J. Reynolds failed to pay overtime as required by law, Plaintiff is 12 entitled under California Labor Code §§ 218.5 and 218.6 and 1194(a) to recover the unpaid
 13 overtime balance, interest thereon, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs of suit.

14 15 COUNT V

16 Failure to Provide Rest and Meal Periods in Violation of California State Law

17 (Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and 18 on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

19 60. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding
 20 paragraphs.

21 61. Plaintiff regularly worked in excess of five hours per day without being afforded 22 at least one half-hour meal period in which she was relieved of all duty, as required by 23 California Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512, and IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040).

24 62. Plaintiff regularly worked in excess of ten hours per day without being afforded
 25 two half-hour meal periods in which she was relieved of all duty, as required by California
 26 Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512, and IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040).

63. Plaintiff regularly worked in excess of four hours per day without being afforded a ten-minute rest period.

64. Plaintiff regularly worked in excess of eight hours per day without being afforded either or both of the two ten-minute rest periods as required by California Labor Code §§ 226.7 and IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040).

65. Plaintiff regularly worked shifts in excess of twelve hours per day without being afforded any or all of the three ten-minute periods as required by California Labor Code §§ 226.7 and IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040).

66. For each time that Plaintiff was not provided the required rest and/or meal period, Plaintiff is entitled to recover backpay wages in the amount of one additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation pursuant to California Labor Code §§ 226.7 and IWC Wage Order No. 4 (8 C.C.R. § 11040).

67. Plaintiff is entitled to payment for backpay for each rest and/or meal period that R.J. Reynolds failed to provide during the Class Period. Plaintiff is also entitled to payment of her reasonable attorney's fees and costs of suit incurred in recovering the additional pay pursuant to California Labor Code § 218.5, and interest pursuant to California Labor Code § 218.6.

COUNT VI

Failure to Pay All Compensation Due and Owing at Termination in Violation of California State Law

(Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

68. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding paragraphs.

69. California Labor Code § 201 requires an employer who discharges an employee to pay compensation due and owing to said employee upon discharge.

70. California Labor Code § 202 requires an employer to promptly pay compensation due and owing to a quitting employee within seventy-two hours of that employee's notice of resignation.

71. California Labor Code § 203 provides that, if an employer willfully fails to pay compensation upon discharge or resignation, the wages of the employee shall continue for a period of up to thirty days.

72. R.J. Reynolds has willfully failed to pay all compensation and wages due and owing to RRs who terminated their employment with R.J. Reynolds within seventy-two hours of the RR's notice of resignation. As a result, R.J. Reynolds is liable to former RRs for wages in an amount to be determined at trial. Plaintiff is also entitled to payment of her reasonable attorney's fees and costs of suit incurred in recovering the additional pay pursuant to California Labor Code § 218.5, and interest pursuant to California Labor Code § 218.6.

COUNT VII

Quantum Meruit

(Brought Against R.J. Reynolds by Class Representative Plaintiff Individually and on Behalf of All Others Similarly Situated)

73. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth in all preceding paragraphs.

74. When RRs performed administrative work from home, during their initial and end-of-the-day commute time, and during their lunch period, RRs performed valuable services for R.J. Reynolds.

75. In failing to adequately pay Plaintiff and other RRs for their working time pursuant to applicable law and/or R.J. Reynolds's own stated policies, R.J. Reynolds was unjustly enriched by Plaintiff's uncompensated and/or under-compensated time.

76. The reasonable value of Plaintiff's and other RRs' uncompensated and/or under-compensated time is readily established by R.J. Reynolds's stated rates of pay in conjunction

1 with applicable law for payment of minimum wage and overtime as well as the provision of rest
2 breaks and meal breaks.

3 77. As a result of R.J. Reynolds's failure to adequately pay Plaintiff and other RRs,
4 R.J. Reynolds is liable to its current and former RRs for the reasonable value of their unpaid
5 services in an amount to be determined at trial.

6 7 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

8 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, on her own behalf and on behalf of all others similarly situated,
9 prays for relief as follows:

10 1. An order certifying that Count I of the action may be maintained as a collective 11 action pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b);

12 2. An order certifying that Counts II-VII of the action may be maintained as a class
13 action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23;

14 3. Compensatory and statutory damages, penalties and restitution, as appropriate and 15 available under each cause of action, in an amount to be proven at trial based on, inter alia, the 16 unpaid balance of compensation owed by R.J. Reynolds;

17 4. Exemplary and punitive damages, as appropriate and available under each cause of 18 action, pursuant to California Civil Code § 3294;

19 5. An order enjoining R.J. Reynolds from pursuing the unlawful policies, acts and 20 practices complained of herein;

21 6. Attorneys' fees pursuant to inter alia, California Labor Code § 1194(a); and 22 pursuant to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938;

23 7. Costs of this suit;

24 8. Pre- and post-judgment interest; and 25 9. Such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.
